EDITORIALS, LOCAL AND GENERAL.

A little girl fell from a porch in Huntingdon, on Saturday week, and had her lower jaw broken.

A Howe truss bridge is to be erected over the Conemaugh river at Nineveh, Indiana county, at a cost of $6,000.

Some seventy or eighty sheep belonging to Mr. Peter Oaks, of Indiana county, have recently been killed by dogs, inside of a week's time.

The Alleghenian admits the election of Mr. John Thomas as Director of the Poor. Why not admit the election of the rest of our ticket "just as easy"?

A horse thief named Levi Lowrie, took French leave of the Huntingdon jail, on Friday week, but was captured the next day and returned to his old quarters.

Mr. Flasher, of Hill Valley, Huntingdon county, was caught in the cog wheels of a thrashing machine, on the 6th inst., and his foot and ankle was literally ground to pieces.

Calvin Cyphers, employed on the Broad Top Railroad, was caught between the bumpers of two cars, near Huntingdon, on Friday week, and so severely crushed that he died the same night.

Christian Lehman, a farmer of Richland township, this county, has on his farm a stalk of the common raspberry, which, a few weeks ago, measured 21 feet and 8 inches in length, and is still growing.

A domestic named Anne Nolan, employed in the family of Mr. W. P. Kugler, Huntingdon, died on Friday week, taking with her a quantity of clothing, etc., belonging to Mrs. R. She has been arrested and committed to jail.

An old man named Patrick Leonard died very suddenly at the Poor House, on Sunday last. He was taken ill at the dinner table, and died before medical or spiritual aid reached him. His disease is said to have had all the symptoms of Asiatic cholera.

The wearing apparel of the man Bennett, confined in the Huntingdon jail, on the charge of having robbed the tailor shop of Jonathan Stouffer, save and except his last coat and shirt, has been recognized as the property of various visitors who have called upon him.

The Leaver, a temperance organ published at Huntingdon, after an existence of ten months, during which time the editor, John H. Keatley, Esq., has run the machine at a dead loss, has been forced to go under for want of patronage. The press and type are offered for sale.

A young son of Mr. Thomas Gray was thrown from a horse near Rochester, Pa., Indiana county, a couple of weeks since, and dragged a considerable distance, his foot having caught in the harness. His clothes were literally torn from his person and he sustained severe injuries.

The beautiful trotting mare, "Mountain Maid," once the property of Mr. Henry Gore, Johnstown, at present owned by Mr. H. S. Hittner, of Montgomery county, won a purse of $1,000 at Rochester, N. Y., week before last. Her time was 2:36, 2:33 and 2:32 in the second, third and fourth heats.

A woman named Page and two girls named Renner, residing in Altoona, were lost on the mountain north of that place, while in quest of whortleberries, a few days since, and after wandering about all night, were met the next day on their way home (having been put on the right road) by a party of men who were seeking for them.

Wm. Johnston, of Altoona, is at present on trial before the U. S. District Court at Pittsburgh on the charge of selling in common with fractional currency. A number of highly respectable witnesses from Blair and Cambria counties, among them our townsman, Col. Wm. K. Piper, have testified to Mr. Johnston's honesty, upright dealing, etc.

The Johnstown Tribune deals at its head, in glaring capitals, the sentence from the Declaration of Independence: "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal." The same paper justifies the negro government of Tennessee, by which the negro vote, but those who have the misfortune to be born white are denied the right of suffrage. Change your motto.

The Steward of the Poor House in his letter of resignation, heretofore published, states that the action of the Convention has "probably deprived this institution of the services of a director in Johnstown." This seems to be a mistake. Mr. Orris, the worthy out-going director, resides some six or eight miles from Johnstown, and he is the nearest director to that place. The election of Mr. Thomas will leave no matter precisely as it has been in this respect.

We learn from the Johnstown Tribune that the proposed colony from that place to Eastern Kentucky is assuming shape. Twenty-eight thousand acres of land in Morgan and Wolf counties have been subscribed for, and a committee consisting of Geo. W. Osborn, a Caleb Duler and James Merton, has gone to look at the country and report upon its advantages. The land is to cost fifty cents an acre, and is located near Licking river, from forty to sixty miles from Cincinnati. The prospects are encouraging, some seventy families design emigrating and engaging in agricultural pursuits in that region.

The Johnstown Tribune is in luck. It is one of the two papers in this Congressional district paid for publishing the very important laws passed by the Rump Congress! We congratulate our contemporary, and presume that the Freeman is the other one. Accordingly we extract one of the laws, "By Authority," from the Tribune, Mainly because of its immense importance to the people of Cambria county, and which is published in two papers in every Congressional district in the United States, including the Southern Provinces, and paid for out of our taxes.

[Public—No. 25.] AN ACT to establish certain post roads. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the following be established as post routes:

From Kennelbunk, via Kennelbunkport, to Cape Neddick.

From Biddford to Saco Pool.

Approved, July 19, 1867.

KEEP IT GOING.—The Harvest Home festival in aid of the new Catholic church in this place, which is to be held in the Town Hall on the 3d of September next, is meeting with merited encouragement, and the probabilities are that it will be a complete success. A number of attractive prizes, consisting of a valuable little mule, a fine American silver watch, a handsome black silk dress pattern, and a fresh milk Durham cow, are offered for competition, and on behalf of a Christian enterprise we solicit a liberal cooperation in the coming festival on part of all classes of our citizens. No man will be any poorer for the few dollars he may invest in so worthy a cause.

JURY COMMISSIONER.—Our advertising columns will show that John Porter, Esq., of Susquehanna Township, is a candidate for Jury Commissioner. We hope the rads will nominate him, or let him run for notwithstanding he is a little radical, he is honest man, and as well qualified by knowledge of the people to perform his duties satisfactorily as any radical in the county.

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.

JOHNSTOWN, AUG. 19, 1867.

Dear Freeman.—One of the most exciting events which has transpired here for a long time, was a foot race which came off on the old tow-path, about two miles below town, on Saturday last. The contestants were a Welshman named Davis and an Irishman named Redmond, and as the friends of either party were sanguine of the success of their man, it was presumed that the race would be very closely contested. Your correspondent repaired to the ground a few minutes before time was called, and taking a position near the "home stretch," awaited with considerable anxiety for the race to begin. Probably 2,000 persons had by this time arrived upon the ground, and had located at different points along the course, the greater number, however, remaining at the winning post. The arrangements for keeping the track clear and preserving order were of the most perfect kind, and consequently the runners had a fair field on which to display their powers of locomotion. At 5 P. M. the contestants appeared at the starting point, and the choice of position falling by lot to Redmond, they took their respective places. Davis was dressed something similar to a ring performer in a circus, the prevailing color being red; his competitor was dressed in light clothes. A few moments after five the word was given, and a fair start having been made, the contestants pulled out, but ere they had run one-fourth the distance it became evident that Davis would win by a considerable margin. He led his competitor the entire course from 20 to 40 yards, and coming in about 30 yards in advance, won the race. Almost every person upon the ground was deceived in the result, as it was expected that it would be a sharp run, and closely contested, whilst on the contrary Davis occupied 3 min. 24 sec. in running the half mile. Of course it was not necessary to run faster, as from the outset he had a sure thing of it, and there was no necessity to exert himself. I have been informed that a present could come from the friends of Davis, in the shape of a suit of clothing, in value less than $2.00. The only way to account for the discrepancy in time is that Redmond was physically unfit to run on that day, and at present writing he is lying in a very critical condition from nervous prostration. The stake at issue was $115, but probably over $5,000 changed hands in bets, which were freely offered and taken, even after the start was made. A considerable amount of ill feeling has been engendered by the result, between the friends of either party, as it was, of course, considered by many as a kind of national affair, and a variety of knock-downs have already occurred. One of the most serious of the latter came off on Woodvale bridge yesterday evening, by which two men succeeded in coming from a wordy dispute to blows, and then damaging each other's faces in a serious manner. Excited groups were gathered at every corner yesterday talking of the result, and manifesting more feeling than they probably did since each individual enjoyed a social attack of the measles, or had his first affections nipped in the bud.

Another race came off later in the evening of Saturday, for a stake of $10, between two amateur runners. The contest on this occasion was located on Locust street, from the Catholic to the Methodist churches. This race was a close contested one, and resulted, I believe, in favor of the winner.

The next most interesting affair last week was a temperance meeting, which was held in the Public Square, on Wednesday evening. Delegations were present from different localities, the usual number of anecdotes were rehearsed, the "rum fiend" got the regular amount of anatomizing, some excellent singing was indulged in by a bevy of good and handsome lady Templars, who have "cussed a cuss" never to drink any more, and the meeting wound up by a general invitation being extended to that portion of the audience who sometimes indulge in "wileky straight," or malt fluid, as the case may be, to step up and sign a document which set forth, expressively and emphatically, that for all time to come they wouldn't touch a taste, handle or drink any of the aforesaid stimulating beverages. Several persons signed the pledge, and the meeting adjourned to re-assemble in Ebsensburg during Court week. Methinks these apostles of temperance will have a fair field to operate in when they visit your town.

A man named Thomas M'Gaughey met with a very serious accident at the depot in this place on Tuesday last. He was engaged in the usual business of switching, and on that evening an engine with a train of cars was just starting from the depot, when Mr. M'Gaughey discovered that the pipe leading from the sand box to the track had by some means become displaced, and he attempted to kick it back to its proper position, but missing the pipe, his foot was caught by the driving wheel ere he had time to withdraw it, and was crushed in such a manner that amputation at the ankle was necessary. This operation was performed, but it was afterwards discovered that the bone was not taken off high enough up, and re-amputation was performed just below the knee. Under this accumulated suffering the man is now lying in rather a critical condition, at his residence at Conemaugh station.

A little son of Mr. D. Bolton had his arm badly broken last week by a fall. The boy had attempted to crawl from the window of an unfinished house on Washington street to the projection over the store front, about three feet below, and missing his footing he fell to the pavement, breaking his arm near the elbow. Although a very severe fracture the boy is getting along finely.

An employee at the Mechanical Works, named Robert Finley, met with an accident on Thursday which might have resulted fatally. He was engaged in ripping a piece of door casing on a circular saw, and after pushing it through it was caught by the saw and thrown back with great force, striking Mr. F. in the breast and incapacitating him from work for several days.

A man was last week arrested in Cambria borough for alleged burglarious entrance into the house of a resident of that place. He was held in the sum of $500 to answer the charge.

A man named Gallaher was sent up on Saturday in default of bail, for stealing a hat. Mr. Dale, whom it will be recollected was accidentally thrown from a train a few weeks ago, convalesced sufficiently to be able to take his departure for his home in New York last week. Prior to leaving he presented a silver watch, the popular brand of the Scott House, with a valuable gold head-cane, as a testimonial of his gratitude for the kind treatment he had received at the hands of that gentleman. The head of the cane bears the inscription, "To Capt. A. Row, from T. N. Dale, July 21, 1867," being the date at which the accident occurred.

Capt. Jas. H. Gagey, U. S. A., left New York on the 10th of last month, with 200 recruits, for San Francisco. Jim is a Johnstown boy, and has by meritorious conduct gradually worked himself from the ranks to his present position.

Mr. H. Leonard, a more familiarly known as "Dad," has been promoted from the ranks to the position of Sergeant in the regular army. Sergeant H. is at present on detailed duty at Governor's Island, N. Y.

THE KICK, B. B. CLUB.

The Kick, B. B. Club went on a pilgrimage last week for the purpose of playing the "Star" club of Altoona and the "Junia" of Hollidaysburg. The game with the Stars stood at the 8th inning 71 for Kicks and 25 for Stars. The Stars concluded they couldn't shine, and had to yield the bat. The Junia played the Kicks on the following day, the score standing on the 9th inning: Kick 34, Junia 60. The previous week our Independent, Jr., went to Hollidaysburg to play with the Junia, Jr. The Ind. Jrs. were beaten 19 scores. A match game will be played on Friday between the Irons and Kicks.

They had the pleasure of greeting quite a number of your citizens in our town last week. Among the number I make particular mention of Messrs. Blair, Zake, Oatman and "Daniel"—all of them belonging to class A.

D. F. Kenly is with us on a brief visit, accompanied by his lady. Dave looks as if Chicago agreed with him, and his many friends here will be glad to know that he is succeeding well in business. SKT BAZ.

OUR BOOK TABLE.—We have before us "Beyond the Mississippi," by Alice D. Richardson, of the corps of the New York Tribune. It is written with a republican leaning, but is not as rabid as many productions of that character. Its author speaks from personal knowledge, having travelled all through the country whereof he writes. His style is graphic and agreeable, and the volume contains a vast fund of useful information of that portion of our country which is to be the future governing power. It contains 572 pages, and is embellished by over 200 engravings. It is sold only by subscription, and the people of Cambria county will be waited upon by an agent within a few days.

A Sketch of Beula and its Suburbs, with a slight account of Ebsensburg and Cambria county; to which is added a view of the Wealth of Nations. By Corneac M'Sannell, F. F. J., author of sundry papers about letters and marks. This pamphlet, which is an inverted polytechnic, to kill us off, like an inverted plow, should be in the hands of every capitalist. It is ironical in style, urging government to take care of the rich that the rich may take care of the poor.

DOING IT HANDSOMELY.—Our generous friends, Messrs. Harshberger & Co., must thrive in the world, as they are not forgotten by the printer. The other day we were the recipient of a very handsome little box by Express, and as we could not divine where it came from, we feared that it might be an "infernal machine" to kill us off, to prevent us from going to Congress some day. Judge of our pleasant surprise when we found, safely imbedded in saw dust, a pair of nice black bottles, labelled in the finest style. But "appearances are often deceitful," so we "inquired within," and found the one to contain a liqueur that the gods of old would have delighted to quaff—"Angelica," or the nectar of angels; the other composed of "sterner stuff," being the highest quality of California brandy—for medicinal purposes. After this, we need scarcely inform our country friends what Johnstown Drug Store to call in if they want a good and pure article for their money. By conning the advertisement of D. W. Harshberger & Co., in another column, they will find the place, and we advise them to "go in."

A NEW ISSUE.—We desire to see the liquor traffic placed under proper restrictions, but must admit that the following resolve, being the first one adopted by the Cambria County Temperance Society, sounds a little queer regular amount of anatomizing, some excellent singing was indulged in by a bevy of good and handsome lady Templars, who have "cussed a cuss" never to drink any more, and the meeting wound up by a general invitation being extended to that portion of the audience who sometimes indulge in "wileky straight," or malt fluid, as the case may be, to step up and sign a document which set forth, expressively and emphatically, that for all time to come they wouldn't touch a taste, handle or drink any of the aforesaid stimulating beverages. Several persons signed the pledge, and the meeting adjourned to re-assemble in Ebsensburg during Court week. Methinks these apostles of temperance will have a fair field to operate in when they visit your town.

A SPLENDID MONUMENT.—There has recently been erected in the Catholic cemetery at this place, in memory of the deceased members of the Noon family, one of the most imposing and elaborate monuments within the limits of Cambria county, and one that will compare favorably in design and execution with any similar work of art in the country. The monument is some fourteen feet from base to pinnacle, and is surmounted by a beautiful cross, encircled with a wreath of flowers in bas relief, exquisite in conception and unsurpassed in workmanship. The monument is the handiwork of Mr. John Parke, of Johnstown, and stamps him as an artisan of fine taste and high mechanical talent.

GAY SPORT.—A "Muffin" match game of baseball will be played this (Thursday) afternoon between two picked nines. Total ignorance of the rules of the game is the only accomplishment required on part of the players. Suitable prizes are to be awarded the best and worst players. The occasion promises to be one replete with fun—second only to a greased pig race.

A CHANCE FOR AN INVESTMENT.—M. J. Smith offers for sale his well known hotel property at Gallitzin, this county, besides a lot of ground and sixteen acres of land in the same locality. The property is eligibly located in a prosperous neighborhood, and will be sold on fair terms.

APPROACHING.—The time for the removal of Mills & Davis to their new store room is coming on apace, and the clearing out sale at greatly reduced prices at their present establishment should induce every person to "pitch in" while the chance to save money is so temptingly offered.

CITYWARDS.—Harry Shoemaker designs going to the city on Monday for the purpose of laying in his fall stock of new goods, and calls on all persons indebted to the firm to pay up immediately. Give Harry a helping hand, and then look out for his new stock.

REMEMBER that the improvements now in progress at C. T. Roberts' watch and jewelry emporium do not prevent him from attending to the wants of his customers. Fail not to give Cham a call if in quest of anything in his line.

DON'T FORGET.—When on a shopping excursion for the purchase of dry goods, groceries, etc., don't forget that J. M. Thompson keeps a general assortment at his store on High street, and sells at as reasonable figures as any other dealer in the county.

THE MILLERITES are again excited in regard to the expected dissolution of sublimity things, and expect to "go up" about the first of October. In the meantime there is no "go up" in prices at the cheap cash store of V. S. Barker, on Main street.

ERHART FARABAUGH, August 22, 1867-31.
